

FIELD TRIP: RECOVERING FROM VIOLENCE
Health Administration Division, Ministry of Public Health
One Stop Crisis Center (OSCC), Pathumthani Hospital and Donmuang Emergency Home

Background

On June 29, 1999, the Cabinet issued its resolution to establish service centers in helping children and women affected by violence in every public hospitals in Thailand. With this resolution, November becomes the month for carrying out campaigns to stop and alleviate violence against children and women.

The Ministry of Public Health accordingly executed the policy and assigned hospitals under its supervision to establish and maintain the service center in helping children and women affected by violence and given the name of “One Stop Crisis Center” or OSCC. OSCC has the roles and responsibilities to help and assist children and women who are affected by violence in a comprehensive manner through multi-sectoral collaboration from within the hospitals and also other agencies. Moreover, OSCC acts as information center and the body to coordinate all efforts from relevant agencies.

One Stop Crisis Center (OSCC) at Pathumthani Hospital

Pathumthani Hospital has been a role model for the establishment of the One Stop Crisis Center. It is one of the study sites of the Ministry of Public Health which offer its services to help and assist children and women who have been physically, sexually and mentally assaulted. OSCC of the Pathumthani Hospital always seeks for opportunities of offering medical services, social welfare, justice, and other services to the victims. OSCC operates based on multi-sectoral approach where it collaborates with variety of professionals both from within the hospitals and other agencies. The hospital itself has a multi-sectoral team which is capable of offering the services based on the perspective of gender equality.

Donmuang Emergency Home

Donmuang Emergency Home offers 24-hour service offering shelters for persons who are in needed. In the other hand, it also gives consultation services for those who do not wish to stay at the shelter through a face-to-face consultation and telephone consultation service. Donmuang Emergency Home is divided into three areas based on characteristics of the members; including,

Children's Home: Taking care of children age between two to six years old, who belong to the persons requesting for shelters or rehabilitation; for examples, a mother who is in post-labor period or a mother who is incapable of taking care of her child at the moment.

Infant Care Center (Jimmy Rosaline Carter Building): A nursery and a shelter for mothers who'd just returned from the hospitals after the labors.

Education and Vocational Center: Offer around 20 curriculums in sewing, cooking, baking, massaging, computer usage, driving, etc.
